

THE BEST IN HEALTHCARE FOR YOU

We at FHN are honored to be your healthcare provider and are focused on giving you and your baby exceptional care.

Our team of skilled obstetricians and nurse practitioners specialize in pre- and post-natal care. During non-office hours, our providers who specialize in labor and delivery take turns being on call, so it is possible that your prenatal care provider may not be available when your baby arrives. Rest assured, all our staff is committed to providing you with competent and compassionate care during your delivery experience. View all our provider profiles at www.fhn.org, or see the provider biographies in our waiting room.

THE BEST IN HEALTHCARE FOR YOUR BABY

FHN has excellent pediatricians and family practice providers to take care of your child's health. You can research these providers at www.fhn.org, ask your OB staff member for a recommendation, or contact pediatric or family practice offices for more information. We recommend consulting with a provider before your baby is born. He or she will help you discuss newborn care, immunizations, circumcision, and any other questions you may have.

PEDIATRICS

Pediatrics is the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of illnesses common to children, from birth through adolescence.

FHN Pediatrics providers care for children from newborns to teenagers.

FAMILY PRACTICE

Family practice is the diagnosis and treatment of medical problems of all family members and coordination of overall care and general health maintenance. Family Practice is considered primary care, but it is still a specialty.

FHN offers multiple healthcare centers throughout northwest Illinois to provide patients with convenient access to FHN Family Practice providers, close to home.

FHN Family Practice providers receive education and training in a wide range of medical fields, such as pediatrics and internal medicine, so they can care for people of all ages.
